HOTEL, RESTAURANT AND SPA
YORK

Middlethorpe Hall, York, is a William III country house close to the city set in 20 acres of its own gardens and parkland. Built in 1699, it was once the home of the famous diarist, Lady Mary Wortley Montagu.

After a period of neglect, the Hall was sympathetically restored by Historic House Hotels Limited with decoration, antiques and fine pictures carefully chosen as consistent with the period of the house.

The Hall was donated to the National Trust in 2008.

THE GARDENS AND GROUNDS

The gardens have been restored and replanted since the property was acquired in 1980. There are many mature specimen trees, including a Deodar Cedar, a Wellingtonia, a Cedar of Lebanon, a Red Oak and a Turkey Oak.

The walled kitchen garden offers not only a beautiful display of flowering shrubs and magnificent herbaceous borders but also vegetables, herb beds and fruits used by our Chefs. The main feature there is the mellow brick Dovecote, dating back to 1681.

To the west of the kitchen garden is the Rose Garden, its wide stone path lined with lavender. To the South is the White Garden, leading to the Spring Garden and the park and arboretum with its lake surrounded by a glade of trees.

MIDDLETHORPE HALL

HOTEL, RESTAURANT AND SPA, YORK

Middlethorpe Hall, overlooking York racecourse, is an obvious choice for the racegoer, and is only a mile and a half from York railway station and the City - one of Britain's most historic, and still surrounded by its medieval city walls. They contain some of the most splendid urban architecture in the British Isles, including the Minster, the Treasurer's House, Fairfax House, the beautifully restored Georgian town house, the medieval street of The Shambles, the Castle and its outstanding museum and a profusion of other fascinating buildings and museums (including the National Railway Museum which contains the world's fastest steam locomotive and a splendid collection of royal railway carriages).

Yorkshire is full of romantic and historic places, such as the ruined abbeys of Fountains, Rievaulx and Jervaulx; country houses like Castle Howard, Newby, Sledmere and Beningbrough; towns like Richmond, Helmsley, Whitby and Scarborough. The countryside is renowned for the beauty of the Yorkshire Dales, and the open splendours of the North York Moors, the Howardian Hills and the exciting coastal scenery. Middlethorpe Hall is well placed within easy reach of all of these.
